

Veolia Health and Safety Innovation Award

The Veolia Health and Safety Innovation Award will acknowledge and reward a corporate entity or individual who has developed an innovation which eliminates or minimises a health or safety risk in the water industry.

Conditions of Entry

The Veolia Health and Safety Innovation Award is open to corporate entities or individuals working in the New Zealand water industry.

Submissions will only be accepted if the individual is a member of Water New Zealand or works for an organisation which is a member of Water New Zealand.

Veolia employees are not eligible to enter this award.

There are no entry fees.

Entry Requirements and Submission Information

Visit www.waternzconference.org.nz for entry requirements and nomination details for the current year's Veolia Health and Safety Innovation Award.

Prize

The award winner will receive a trophy and a cash prize of $1,000.

Innovations of the award winner and finalists will be showcased in the November edition of the Water New Zealand Journal.

Judges and Judging Criteria

All entries will be assessed by a panel of four judges. The judging panel will consist of Veolia Group General Manager, Ian Cathcart; Veolia National SHEQ Manager, Ian Gill; Water New Zealand CEO, John Pfahler; and Watercare CEO, Raveen Jaduram.

The judges reserve the right to not offer the award or offer an additional certificate of achievement, depending on the quality of entries. The judges' decision will be final.

Sponsorship

Water New Zealand acknowledges the generosity of Veolia in sponsoring this award.
