

Water New Zealand Board Certificates Of Service

The success or failure of membership associations is largely dependent on the input of volunteer members. Arguably the most important contribution that can be made by members is to that of governance. Determining strategy and monitoring the performance of these organisations is vital work. All retiring Board members are recognised with appropriate certificates for their contribution to the Association.