

Fire and Emergency New Zealand Bill

Government Bill

Explanatory note

General policy statement

New Zealand’s fire services legislation has not fundamentally changed since the 1940s. This Bill is intended to enable—

- “fit-for-purpose” 21st century fire services that are flexible, modern, effective, and efficient; and
- fire services that work well, are funded appropriately, and value the paid and volunteer workforce.

This Bill repeals the 2 Acts governing fire services, the Fire Service Act 1975 and the Forest and Rural Fires Act 1977, to give effect to a single, unified fire services organisation for New Zealand.

The organisation continued as Fire and Emergency New Zealand (FENZ) will combine urban and rural fire services and will have local committees to ensure FENZ is responsive to the risks and needs of the communities in which it serves.

The Bill is the result of 2 reviews of the fire services undertaken by the Government in 2012 and 2015 that looked at mandate, rural and urban governance and support structures, legislation modernisation, funding, and co-ordination with other emergency services.

A discussion document released in 2015 asked for public feedback on ways to improve support for firefighters, reflect local needs, align funding, and enhance the governance of fire services. Stakeholders agreed that—

- changing expectations and circumstances are putting the fire services under pressure (for example, public and societal expectations, and environmental circumstances such as changing weather patterns):

- there is a lack of co-ordination within and among urban and rural fire services, unclear accountability for non-fire response activities, and variable leadership (multiple governance structures):
- investment is inconsistent with some communities' needs and is driven by who delivers the service rather than by risk:
- there are cultural differences between urban and rural fire services and between volunteer and career firefighters that can generate operational issues and grievances:
- the Fire Service levy does not adequately align costs to where potential use of services lies, is out of date and ambiguous, and is not adequately aligned to performance.

A clear view emerged from the 2 reviews that change was needed and welcomed. There has been extensive consultation with stakeholders and agreement on the type of fire services needed in New Zealand and how best those services should be supported and funded, given the risks that fire services and communities face.

This Bill gives the existing Crown entity, the New Zealand Fire Service Commission, expanded functions and a new name that reflects the wide range of services that fire-fighters provide for communities, including call-outs to road accidents, natural disasters, and medical emergencies. Local committees will be set up to provide local input to FENZ's national planning.

The levy (paid on insurance for property) will become the principal source of funding for FENZ. It will replace a variety of funding sources for rural fire services.

The Bill enables the levy to be broadened to include insurance for material damage, not just fire damage, to better reflect the range of services that FENZ will provide. The levy on motor vehicle insurance will be extended to include third party insurance. There will be public consultation at least every 3 years on the level of the levy, making the funding of fire services more transparent and allowing the funding of FENZ to be aligned to its strategic and business planning processes.

The Bill introduces a range of changes and new measures for the detailed design and operational policy of FENZ, including the following:

- an updated offences and penalties regime, including a new infringement offence scheme:
- removal of powers to recover the cost of rural fires:
- new powers for managing hazardous substances incidents:
- new measures to encourage compliance among levy-payers and to protect the integrity of the levy:
- new powers for firefighters to enter premises to investigate the causes of fires and to take a sample or samples of objects for analysis.

The Bill provides that the existing paid and volunteer workforce will retain its existing entitlements. Volunteers will move into a direct relationship with FENZ, and there is provision for independent advocacy services and support for FENZ volunteers, at no charge to those volunteers. FENZ will be required to develop a framework for supporting volunteers, based on modern volunteer principles.

The Bill also contains provisions empowering FENZ to develop a new code of practice to ensure adequate firefighting water supplies, and a new dispute resolution scheme. The code and the scheme will be developed with input from stakeholders. As these are powers to make disallowable instruments, they will be approved by the responsible Minister, notified in the Gazette, and presented to the House of Representatives under section 41 of the Legislation Act 2012.

The Bill also provides for new provisions for evacuation schemes for relevant buildings. These provisions will come into force on 1 July 2018, if not brought into force by Order in Council earlier. This approach is intended to allow time to consult with the sector on new regulations to update Part 2 of the Fire Safety and Evacuation of Buildings Regulations 2006.

Named roles will no longer be specified in legislation. However, the Bill enables the delegation of powers and functions to appropriately qualified or trained personnel. Firefighters will still have the powers to act decisively and competently in emergency situations.

The Bill will make the firefighting assets (fire engines, fire equipment, etc) of current fire services available to FENZ to use to perform its fire and emergency functions. The transfer of assets will be determined using a principles-based approach and in collaboration with the owner of the asset.

Clause by clause analysis

Clause 1 is the Title clause.

Clause 2 is the commencement clause. Most of the Bill comes into force on 1 July 2017. Preliminary provisions and some transitional provisions come into force on the day after Royal assent. Some other provisions about evacuation schemes come into force on 1 July 2018 unless earlier brought into force by Order in Council. Provisions relating to the levy come into force on 1 July 2018.

Part 1

Fire and Emergency New Zealand

Subpart 1—Preliminary provisions

Clause 3 sets out the purpose of the Bill. The purpose is to—

- reform the law relating to fire services, including strengthening the role of the community in the provision of those services; and
- unify fire services by establishing FENZ and to provide for FENZ's objectives, functions, operating principles, and powers; and
- provide for a levy-based system to fund FENZ; and
- provide for local committees to influence and advise FENZ; and
- improve support for volunteers and enable them to communicate directly with FENZ; and
- provide new offences and penalties to improve fire safety.

Clause 4 and Schedule 1 provide for transitional, savings, and related provisions (see the explanation of Schedule 1).

Clause 5 provides that the Bill binds the Crown. However, except as expressly provided, nothing in the Bill applies to defence areas, members of the New Zealand Defence Force in those areas, or defence fire brigades.

Subpart 2—Interpretation

This subpart (clauses 6 and 7) defines certain words and expressions that are used in the Bill.

Subpart 3—Fire and Emergency New Zealand and board

This subpart continues FENZ as a Crown entity under the Crown Entities Act 2004 (clause 8). FENZ will be a Crown agent under that Act. FENZ is the same body as the New Zealand Fire Service Commission.

Clause 9 provides that FENZ's board (the board) consists of not fewer than 5, and not more than 6, members.

Subpart 4—FENZ's main objectives, functions, and operating principles

Main objectives

Clause 10 sets out the main objectives of FENZ, which include—

- reducing the incidence of unwanted fire and the associated risk to life and property; and
- in relation to its main functions, protecting and preserving life, preventing or limiting injury, and preventing or limiting damage to property, land, and the environment.

Functions

Clause 11 sets out the main functions of FENZ, which include—

- promoting fire safety;
- providing fire prevention, response, and suppression services;
- stabilising or rendering safe incidents that involve hazardous substances;
- rescuing trapped persons (for example, from a car that has been in an accident);
- providing urban search and rescue services;
- efficiently administering the Bill (once enacted).

Clause 12 sets out additional functions. Before performing these additional functions, FENZ must ensure that it retains the capacity to perform its main functions. The additional functions include—

- responding to medical emergencies;
- performing technical rescues (for example, from a collapsed building);
- providing assistance at transportation incidents (for example, crash scene cordoning and traffic control);
- responding to severe weather-related events, natural hazard events, and disasters;
- responding to certain incidents involving substances or materials that create a risk;
- promoting safe practices relating to hazardous substances.

Operating principles

Clause 13 requires FENZ to develop operating principles to guide FENZ and to assist it to—

- carry out its functions effectively and in a co-ordinated manner;
- work co-operatively and collaboratively with other organisations;

- carry out effective consultation with stakeholders.

In formulating the principles, the board must take into account various matters including local interests and differences, the importance of transparency, and the importance of engagement with personnel, local committees, and various relevant organisations.

Subpart 5—Local committees, local planning by FENZ, and delegations by board

This subpart (clauses 14 to 22) provides for—

- the establishment of local committees. The main purpose of local committees is to provide advice, from a local perspective, to FENZ. FENZ's board owes duties towards these committees, including to support the committees to be efficient and effective and to take into account advice from local committees:
- the setting of local committee boundaries:
- local planning for each local area. In undertaking the planning, FENZ must take into account various matters, including the national strategy, the emergency services required within the local area, advice from the local committee, and various operational service agreements. The planning must identify the specific needs in the local area and the local activities that address those needs. There must be a specific fire plan for the local area and the planning must demonstrate how the local allocation of resources fits in with the national plan:
- the delegation of the functions or powers of FENZ or its board.

Subpart 6—Appointments, vacancies, and requirement to leave FENZ

Appointments and vacancies

Clauses 23 to 27 provide for the appointment of officers to different roles and ranks. An officer must be either an employee of FENZ or a volunteer. These clauses also contain requirements that appointments be made on merit, requirements regarding the notification of vacancies and appointments, and requirements for the review of appointments.

Leaving FENZ compulsorily due to incapacity

Clauses 28 to 32 provide—

- for the board to prescribe standards of health required of operational personnel to ensure that they are fit to competently perform their duties:
- for the standards to be communicated to all operational personnel:
- that the board may require a member of operational personnel to leave FENZ if—
 - the person is incapable of competently performing his or her duties; and
 - 2 medical or health practitioners certify that the person's incapacity is referable to the person's inability to meet the health standards and that the person has failed to respond, or is unlikely to respond, to treatment, counselling, or other remedial assistance:

- for when an operational employee who is required to leave FENZ ceases to be an employee (subject to any personal grievance action in respect of the requirement):
- that an operational volunteer may appeal against a requirement to leave in accordance with the dispute resolution provisions in subpart 5 of Part 4.

Subpart 7—Volunteers

Clause 33 requires FENZ to—

- take reasonable steps to recognise, respect, and promote the contribution of FENZ volunteers:
- consult FENZ volunteers and relevant organisations:
- develop arrangements that encourage, maintain, and strengthen the capability of FENZ volunteers.

The clause also provides that section 118 of the Crown Entities Act 2004 applies in relation to volunteers working for FENZ. Section 118 requires FENZ to operate a personnel policy that complies with the principle of being a good employer.

Clause 34 requires FENZ to make advocacy and support services available to FENZ volunteers (at no cost to those volunteers).

Part 2

Emergencies, fire control, industry fire brigades, water supply, and evacuation schemes

Subpart 1—Operational functions, duties, and powers

This subpart (clauses 35 to 58) provides—

- that, if an alarm of fire is raised or a fire is reported, an authorised person is empowered to do various things, including to endeavour by all practicable means to extinguish or prevent the spread of the fire, to save lives and property, to direct any person to stop an activity that may contribute to the emergency, and to direct any person to leave, or refrain from entering, a place:
- that, if a hazardous substance emergency occurs, an authorised person is empowered to do various things, including to endeavour by all practicable means to stabilise or render safe hazardous substances involved in the emergency, to save lives and property, to direct any person to stop an activity that may contribute to the emergency, and to direct any person to leave, or refrain from entering, a place:

- that, if other emergencies occur, an authorised person is empowered to do various things, including taking whatever action is necessary to save lives and property in danger:
- for the authorised person to control and direct all FENZ personnel, defence fire brigades, and industry fire brigades and all persons who place their services at his or her disposal:
- for various powers of an authorised person in relation to land, buildings, or structures. These powers include a power to enter any land, building, or structure, to break into a building or structure, to take equipment onto or into any land, building, or structure, to remove any flammable or other dangerous material, and to pull down or shore up a building or structure:
- for powers of an authorised person in relation to trees or other plants:
- for various other powers (for example, a power to cause water to be shut off from, or turned into, any main or pipe in order to obtain a greater pressure and supply of water and a power to shut off or disconnect a supply of gas, fuel oil, or electricity):
- for powers to destroy or dispose of any by-product after rendering safe a hazardous substance emergency or other substance emergency:
- for powers to use water in mains for various purposes:
- for a duty for FENZ to notify, or report to, various organisations in relation to hazardous substance emergencies:
- that FENZ may prohibit the lighting of open fires in an area, or prohibit or restrict any other activity in an area that FENZ considers may cause a fire to start or to spread, if FENZ considers that fire risk conditions exist or are likely to exist in the area and that the prohibition or restriction is necessary or desirable for fire control:
- that it is an offence for a person who has notice of a prohibition (relating to the lighting of open fires or any other activity) to knowingly do the prohibited activity except in accordance with a permit:
- that it is an offence for a person who has notice of a restriction to knowingly do the restricted activity in a way that breaches the restriction:
- for prohibited or restricted fire seasons to be declared for an area:
- that it is an offence to knowingly or recklessly light or allow another person to light an open fire in an area that is in a prohibited or restricted season except in accordance with a permit:
- that it is an offence to knowingly or recklessly cause or permit a fire to spread to vegetation (or to leave such a fire without first taking precautions against the spread of the fire to vegetation) if, as a consequence, fire burns or damages vegetation or other property or damages soil:

- that it is an offence to knowingly or recklessly leave a burning or smouldering substance so as to cause a fire hazard in vegetation and—
 - to fail to take all reasonable steps to extinguish any smouldering substance and any ensuing fire; or
 - if the person is unable to extinguish the smouldering substance or fire, to fail to notify FENZ immediately and to continue, as far as possible, to endeavour to control or extinguish the substance or fire:
- for FENZ to require the landholder of forestry land to make and clear fire-breaks if FENZ considers it necessary for the purpose of fire control.

Subpart 2—Industry fire brigades

This subpart (clauses 59 to 61) provides for various persons to organise and maintain an industry fire brigade. For example, an owner of commercial or industrial premises may organise a brigade for the purpose of protecting the premises from fire.

The subpart—

- allows the board to enter into agreements with owners or occupiers of premises protected by an industry fire brigade:
- allows a principal officer of an industry fire brigade to perform or exercise functions, duties, and powers under clauses 38 to 42 in certain circumstances.

Subpart 3—Provisions relating to water supply

Code of practice for firefighting water supply

Clause 62 allows the Minister to approve a code of practice for firefighting water supply (the code).

Clause 63 requires FENZ to develop, consult on, and publish the code.

Powers and duties in relation to water supply

Clause 64 provides for checks on the adequacy of water supplies (for example, tests of water volume and pressure) in order to check that the code is being complied with.

Subpart 4—Evacuation schemes

This subpart (clauses 65 to 68)—

- requires the owners of various buildings to maintain an evacuation scheme to enable evacuation from the scene of a fire. The relevant buildings include buildings used for the gathering together, for any purpose, of 100 or more persons or buildings used to provide employment facilities for 10 or more persons. A person who knowingly contravenes the requirement commits an offence and is liable to a penalty of imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or a fine not exceeding $75,000 (in the case of an individual) or a fine not exceeding $150,000 (in any other case):

- requires the evacuation scheme to be approved by FENZ;
- allows a District Court to order that a building be closed until the requirements relating to evacuation schemes are complied with.

Part 3

Levy

Part 3 provides for a levy to fund FENZ. In summary, the levy is payable in respect of—

- every motor vehicle that is insured against physical damage or loss or in relation to which any person is insured against third party liability;
- any other property that is insured against physical damage or loss.

The amount of the levy that is payable in relation to—

- a motor vehicle is an annual amount to be prescribed in regulations;
- any other property is an amount calculated by reference to the amount for which the property is insured against physical damage or loss (the amount insured) under the insurance contract.

Subpart 1—Purpose and interpretation

Subpart 1 (clauses 69 to 72) sets out the purpose of Part 3 and defines various terms used in this Part.

Clause 69 sets out the purpose of Part 3.

Clause 70(1) defines certain words and expressions used in Part 3. Clause 70(2) provides that the provisions of Part 3 must be interpreted in a manner that best gives effect to the purpose set out in clause 69.

Clause 71 defines the term amount insured. If a contract of insurance contains an express maximum limit on the amount for which the property is insured against physical damage or loss, the amount insured is that maximum limit. In any other case, the amount insured is the declared value.

Clause 72 sets out how the declared value of property is determined.

Subpart 2—Levy on insured property

This subpart (clauses 73 to 83) provides—

- that the levy is payable on—
 - any motor vehicle that is the subject of a contract of insurance; and
 - any other property that is insured under a contract of insurance;
- that the amount of levy payable for:
 - a motor vehicle is an annual amount prescribed in regulations; and
 - any other property is an amount calculated on the basis of the amount insured in accordance with regulations;

- that insurers are liable to pay the levy to FENZ when they enter a contract of insurance:
- for circumstances in which the levy is payable by the policyholder to FENZ directly:
- for the last date for payment of levy:
- for the policyholder to reimburse their insurer in accordance with the contract of insurance:
- for the levy to be set out separately in any invoice, demand, or statement of account:
- that FENZ may release an insurer from liability for an unpaid levy if FENZ considers that the amount that is payable by the policyholder to the insurer in respect of the unpaid levy is irrecoverable:
- that, if 2 or more persons are liable to pay a levy or to reimburse an insurer in respect of a levy, their liability is joint and several:
- that in any proceeding relating to the assessment of a levy or a shortfall penalty, the burden of proof is on the insurer or policyholder disputing FENZ's assessment:
- for a deadline, being 4 years from the end of the tax year in which an insurance contract was entered into, after which FENZ may not, except in certain circumstances, assess or adjust its assessment for the levy.

Subpart 3—Returns, records, and information

This subpart (clauses 84 to 90) provides—

- for levy payers and insurance intermediaries to make returns and to keep records in relation to the levy and contracts of insurance:
- that FENZ may require levy payers and insurance intermediaries to provide information to FENZ:
- for restrictions on the publication and disclosure of information and documents provided to FENZ:
- that it is an offence to fail to provide information to FENZ when required to do so or to provide false or misleading information to FENZ.

Subpart 4—Avoidance arrangements and shortfall penalties

Clauses 91 and 92 relate to levy avoidance arrangements and—

- provide that a levy avoidance arrangement is void as against FENZ for the purposes of the levy:
- enable FENZ to determine a levy payer's liability for the levy in order to counteract a levy advantage that a person obtains from or under a levy avoidance arrangement.

Clauses 93 to 98 relate to shortfall penalties. A levy payer is liable for a shortfall penalty if the levy payer—

- does not take reasonable care in taking a levy position:
- takes an unacceptable levy position:
- is grossly careless in taking a levy position:
- takes an abusive levy position.

Subpart 5—Interest

This subpart (clauses 99 to 103) provides for—

- levy payers to pay interest to FENZ on an unpaid levy:
- FENZ to pay interest to any levy payer that has paid too much levy.

Subpart 6—Regulations relating to levy

Clause 104 provides for the making of regulations relating to the levy. Regulations must be made on the recommendation of the Minister.

Clause 105 sets out the process that the Minister must follow before recommending the making of certain regulations under clause 104.

Clause 106 provides for consultation in relation to certain regulations under clause 104.

Part 4

Miscellaneous and enforcement provisions

Subpart 1—Agreements with Department of Conservation, New Zealand Defence Force, and Ministry of Education

This subpart (clauses 107 to 114) provides for—

- FENZ and the Director-General of Conservation to agree on a policy for fire services and designated emergency services in relation to public conservation land and additional land:
- FENZ and the Department of Conservation to enter into an operational service agreement setting out the services that FENZ will deliver to the Department and the services that the Department will deliver to FENZ:
- FENZ and the New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) to enter into an operational service agreement setting out the services that FENZ will deliver to the NZDF and the services that the NZDF will deliver to FENZ. An agreement will provide for the command of a defence fire brigade and any FENZ personnel when they are operating together:
- the Chief of Defence Force to have functions, duties, and powers under clauses 38 to 42 in relation to a defence area:

- FENZ and the Ministry of Education to enter into a memorandum of understanding about FENZ's functions in relation to land and buildings held for educational purposes (for example, schools), obligations (under this Act and regulations made under this Act) on the Ministry and other owners and occupiers of land and buildings used for educational purposes, and about fire safety education and educational materials related to fire safety.

Subpart 2—Offences

Infringement offences

Clauses 115 to 117 provide for infringement offences. Infringement offences will be prescribed by regulations. The infringement fee (which will be set in regulations) must not exceed $1,000 in the case of an individual or $5,000 in any other case.

Other offences

Clauses 118 to 121 provide for the following offences:

- an offence of impersonating operational personnel of FENZ or a FENZ inspector (with a penalty of imprisonment for a term not exceeding 2 months or a fine not exceeding $25,000, or both):
- an offence of knowingly giving a false alarm of fire to any personnel or brigade (with a penalty of imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or a fine not exceeding $75,000, or both (for an individual), or a fine not exceeding $150,000 (in any other case)):

Subpart 4—Powers of entry, inspection, and search

This subpart (clauses 127 to 137) provides—

- for the appointment of FENZ inspectors:

- a power for a FENZ inspector to deal with a defective or hazardous thing that is likely to imminently cause a fire or other emergency:
- a power for a FENZ inspector to take samples or seize things for the purpose of assessing compliance with requirements imposed under fire safety legislation:
- a power for a FENZ inspector to restrict or prohibit entry to sites.

Subpart 5—Dispute resolution

This subpart (clauses 138 to 147) provides for FENZ to develop, and for the Minister to approve, a dispute resolution scheme for resolving disputes on any matter under the Bill or the regulations (other than certain excluded matters).

The subpart provides for—

- the principles of the scheme:
- the content of the rules of the scheme:
- consultation on the scheme and for the approval and publication of the rules:
- participation in the scheme to be voluntary:
- the relationship of the scheme to other proceedings:
- the District Court to make orders to enforce the scheme:
- appeals.

Subpart 6—Regulations

This subpart (clauses 148 to 153) provides regulation-making powers, including a power to make regulations for the following purposes:

- creating offences for the contravention of regulations with a maximum penalty of $15,000 in the case of an individual or $30,000 in any other case:
- specifying requirements on, and operating processes for, local committees:
- prescribing the content of fire plans:

- prescribing matters relating to evacuation schemes.

Subpart 7—General provisions

This subpart (clauses 154 and 155) provides for a number of miscellaneous matters, including—

- that FENZ is treated as if it were a local authority under the Reserves Act 1977; and
- allowing FENZ to acquire or take and hold land under the Public Works Act 1981.

Subpart 8—Repeals, revocations, and consequential amendments

This subpart (clauses 156 to 158) provides for—

- the repeal of the Fire Service Act 1975 and the Forest and Rural Fires Act 1977 and the revocation of various regulations made under those Acts:
- consequential amendments in Schedule 2.

Schedule 1 provides for transitional, savings, and related provisions.

Subpart 1 of Part 1 of Schedule 1 contains organisation-related provisions, including provisions for—

- the dissolution of rural fire committees:
- the consequences of the continuation of FENZ:
- the transfer of certain employees:
- persons to continue to be volunteers of FENZ if they were, for example, a volunteer member of a volunteer fire brigade or a member of a voluntary rural fire force:
- the continuation of industry fire brigades:
- the continuation of gratuities on retirement or death.

Subpart 2 of Part 1 of Schedule 1 contains provisions relating to response assets. Response assets includes assets owned, leased, or licensed by, or on behalf of, a rural fire authority, a volunteer fire brigade, or a voluntary rural fire force. The subpart includes provisions that—

- impose duties on parties when negotiating transfer arrangements for the use of response assets. The parties must act collaboratively and in good faith and must take into account the preferences of the asset owners and certain principles;
- require FENZ to be given access to response assets for the purposes of FENZ carrying out its functions;
- allow transfers to occur irrespective of any requirements for consent of a third party;
- provide protections in relation to a transfer of response assets (for example, a transfer must not be treated as placing a person in breach of any contract or in breach of trust);
- allow regulations to be made to give effect to transfer arrangements for response assets or to enable FENZ to inquire into, assess, accept, or decline certain legal and financial liabilities and obligations.

Subpart 3 of Part 1 of Schedule 1 provides for a transitional levy for the 2017/2018 year. The transitional levy is similar to the existing levy under the Fire Service Act 1975 in that—

- the levy is imposed in respect of any property that is insured against fire under any contract of fire insurance; and
- the levy is calculated by reference to the amount for which the property is insured (the amount insured).

Subpart 3 provides that, for the purposes of the transitional levy, several of the provisions of the Fire Service Act 1975 are to continue to apply, subject to some modifications. The provisions in the Bill that relate to the transitional levy differ from the provisions in the Fire Service Act 1975 that relate to the existing levy in the following ways:

- caps on the amount insured of residential property and personal property (which are relevant to the calculation of the amount of transitional levy payable in respect of those 2 types of property) will be set by regulations under the Bill rather than by reference to sections 18 and 20 of the Earthquake Commission Act 1993;
- there is a more detailed process for the setting of the transitional levy and for consultation in relation to the regulations that will set levy rates;
- information and documents received by FENZ under this subpart will be subject to the restrictions set out in Part 3 of the Bill rather than the requirement of secrecy set out in section 51B of the Fire Service Act 1975.

Subpart 4 of Part 1 of Schedule 1 provides for miscellaneous matters, including provisions relating to—

- evacuation schemes:

- regulations specifying circumstances in which FENZ may grant exemptions from the levy payable under Part 3 of the Bill in the 2018/19 to 2024/25 years:
- the required tax treatment for assets that become assets of FENZ under the transfer provisions of the Bill.

Schedule 2 sets out consequential amendments to other enactments.
