

Nick Dempsey. Nick is a principal process engineer, and lead's Mott MacDonald's treatment team in New Zealand. He has 20 of years water industry experience gained in New Zealand, Australia, United Kingdom, and Pacific Islands. In recent years he has worked with water sector clients in NZ and Australia to develop capital carbon baselines and tools for evaluating GHG emissions.